

III. Love those beames that breede,

BASSUS.

John Dowland

1. Love those beames that breede, all day long breed, and feed, this bur - ning:
Love I quench with flouds, Flouds of teares, night - ly teares and mourn - ing.
2. Ile goe to the woods, and a - lone, make my moane, o cru - ell:
For I am de - ceiv'd and be-reav'd of my life, my jew - ell:
3. Love then I must yeeld to thy might, might and spight op - press - ed,
Since I see my wrongs, woe is me, can - not be re - dress - ed.

But, but a - las teares coole this fire in vaine, The more I quench, the more, the more there doth re-maine.
O, o but in the woods, though love be blinde, Hee hath his spies, my se - cret, se - cret haunts to finde.
Come, come at last, be friend - ly Love to me, And let me not, en - dure, en - dure this mi - se - rie.
