

Gymnopédie No. 1 for Flute & Easy Piano

(for Flute or other monophonic C instrument)

(Arranged by dddiam)

Erik Satie
(1866–1925)

♩ = 68 or slower

Flute

Slow and soulful*, expressive

Piano

(This is a beautiful, haunting melody; I prefer "soulful" to Satie's "painful")*

(Note: Special clefs with an "8" under them mean to play notes an octave lower than written. Instead of sitting in front of the Middle C key, sit in front of the C key an octave below that).

Piano is background, supporting the flute

8

Chords should be played softer than bass notes, with a hint of a rolled leading edge.

Design for the Easy Piano arrangement:

Only one voice per staff.

Single-note left hand – no ledger lines.

Simple chords for right hand:

- 3 notes maximum
- at most one ledger line
- inversions designed to minimize finger stretch.

Use of 8vb clefs for easier reading.

Positioning of performer one octave to the left,
rather than in front of Middle C key,
for normal feel of finger positioning
relative to the staves / clefs.

The flute part is naturally fairly easy.

Simplified jump notation – No codas.

A single repeat with volta brackets.

Minimal dynamics notation (which may be ignored).
